

The final Key

I ask you now, what have you truly learned after reading hundreds and hundreds of pages that I have so painstakingly put together to reveal the lost knowledge.

Do you remember what I said in the first few pages in book one, The Forbidden Knowledge-Children of the Harvest. I revealed the secret in the “About Author” segment. Do you remember? Did you catch it?

I said, I spent lifetimes and I had to learn things from the trial of hard knocks. And even in this life I spent decades re-learning everything including the secrets and keys to the code. I went through living hell to understand these things.

But do you remember what I said, do you remember that I said, after all this learning, after all that I had been taught, and all that I had received, after all that I had been given. After all of this I came to realize one single truth, and that is I already had the keys and secrets when I was a little child.

My friend, if you have finished all eight books, and even if you have read them repeatedly, there was only one key to break all the codes. And that key was given to you when you were a little child.

Once you have the key, the true key, all knowledge becomes useless. All that you know or ever will know really amounts to no more than a hill of beans. Yes! knowledge is great, it is fun to have, and it is a great help in understanding. But once you find the key, you will realize it is all meaningless unless you access one final truth.

Are you ready?

You must become a little child again, if you do not then there is no way to ever break free. You can't do it on your own. All the knowledge in the universe will not free you. Nothing you have can cause you to break free from a computerized program.

There is only one way, and that way is so simple it will be almost impossible to believe. Let me put it this way so you can better understand this deeply within your soul.

As a human we age, as we age we grow in knowledge and understanding. But everything we receive here unless it comes from within, is game programming protocols. Meaning we are simply avatars inside someone else's game.

Now tell me, what can you do to change any of that? Since you are not the controller of the game, that means that you are being controlled. And once you understand that there are controllers, then that means you have no control.

Read that again!

You have no control! The game programming protocols decide your fate and your destiny. So, what can you do to break away? My books were written to impart the key to the master code.

And there is only one key, one code, one truth that can set you free. I can't do it. All my knowledge cannot help a single person advance further. So, who can? It is so simple and yet it appears so complicated, because it is that simple, and few will ever believe it.

Let me reveal the code here, and to them that hath ears let them hear and to them that hath eyes let them see.

Are you ready?

Are you chomping at the bit to know?

When we were brought into reality via the Father and Mother through Christ, we were children just barely born of spirit. We were no more than young children of the Creator of the grand Omniverse.

We were little spirit bundles of energy, yet we were without character, identity, personality. Therefore, the mystery to all reality is this...

In spirit terms, we were no older than let's say about three years old, as if paralleling it to our situation here. We were as little children. What most have not grasped, and may still do not understand, is that we have never advanced beyond the mind of a child. We as spirits had never gone beyond a certain point due to our spiritual kidnapping and our fall.

At this point, the children of the Father and Mother are being entertained in other realms with games that are basically meaningless. All that we do, all that we learn, is eventually only going to bring us back to one reality, and that is, we have never mentally aged beyond that of being a child. That is why we are so easily led as sheep to the slaughter.

Mentally, emotionally, and spiritually, we are still a little child. However, this game gives us the illusion that we evolve, we grow, we get older, we mature, become wiser, more intelligent and filled with knowledge.

And yet what has it ever done for any of us? We continue to fail, we continue to fall short. We continue to return to the never-ending story. We continue to make many of the same mistakes continuously. We continue to be human in very human terms; and yet we are the offspring of the greatest Creator in existence, who just happens to be our dad and mom. Yet one would never believe this!

I ask then, what is the secret?

The secret is this, unless we become that little child again, we shall never return to our Father and Mother's realm.

Now you may be asking, what does that mean and how can we return? You might be thinking, Obviously, we cannot walk around like three-year old's in this world, because, hey we are adults, we are mature, we are so much more than that!

You see, that is the problem, we are not so much more than that, we just think we are because of the programming.

Our real spirit self, is a child. Does this mean our true spirit is not growing? No, our spirit is growing, and in time all that we have learned will be fashioned within ourselves at the higher spirit level, where moth and rust cannot corrupt. And then we can be changed into Christ. That is why it stated, we must be born in spirit, again!

Christ became the perfection, the way, the process so that we could be born again, but this time we can never ever fall away or be seduced into following another way, because we now know where that new way leads us, at that point we will have matured into an adult spirit mind. And what is ironic is that we must become like a little child, in order to develop the mind of an mature spirit. Now isn't that one for the ages?

Once this happens, once we are born again, then we begin the process of truly evolving, aging, growing, maturing. Until then we are stagnating, going nowhere.

Then what is the secret?

We must become who we really are and stop believing we have evolved within this game parameters that is being controlled by those who are our avowed enemies.

Imagine being a three-year child. Imagine what life would be like. How much command would you have over your own life? The truth is, you are simply a child that must trust in their parents or benefactors for everything. What you eat, what you wear, when you go to bed, when you wake up.

Where you play, what chores are allotted, everything you do is in the guiding hands of your parents or benefactors. Of yourself you can really do nothing.

The secret to everything I have been teaching is, unless you truly merge your will back into the Father and Mother's will. You will remain stranded in this illusory world that makes you feel like you are mature, wise and secure. When in truth, you are as lost as a puppy in the woods, stranded, having no real power to control anything.

Once you truly realize who you are at this level, then and only then can the illusion change back into reality. And it all begins with placing your entire trust, just as if you were three-years old, back into the arms of your Father and Mother and let them take control.

This means, humility, being poor in spirit, removing pride and ego, totally releasing your life into your spiritual parent's hands and arms. We are little children in the spirit world.

This is the secret! And returning home is all about coming to realize this world is not home, it is an illusion to trap children's minds into a fairy tale. We must stop pretending that we don't need anything, that we can do everything on our own, that we have all power unto ourselves.

Ask yourself, you spend a lifetime in this realm buried in false logic, and reason, and even if you are successful, become wealthy, famous, and extremely knowledgeable, where pray-tell does it lead you? When you come to your deathbed, at that point what real control do you really have?

It takes you to the same place, where the unsuccessful, the poor, the unknown, and ignorant all go. You get the same basic ritual, and you simply disappear, becoming, if you are lucky, maybe a footnote in history. And when it is all said and done, you return as equals to everyone else having to start all over again, ironically as that little child.

All that we have done or ever will do is based on the idea that we convince ourselves that we are these mature adults who now can command their own will and reason. It is all part of the illusion and deception.

If I would have told you this secret without ever revealing the foundation through these eight books, most would have laughed at this. However, after reading all that I have written, it should begin awakening the mind to who we truly are at this level.

Now we know why Christ specified, what at first appeared to be a silly statement: "He said, Verily I say unto you, except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven."

Again, he said, "Jesus called a little child to stand among them.... Therefore, whoever humbles himself like this little child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven."

Continuing, "But Jesus said, "Let the little children come to Me, and do not hinder them! For the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these."

Still more, "Truly I tell you, if anyone does not receive the kingdom of the Father like a little child, he will never enter it."

And this is what I have been revealing, when I learned all that I had learned, I then came full circle to realize one easy, simple, truth, and that is, I already had everything I needed when I was a little child, and that was giving your life into your parent's hands and fully trust. But it was too simple, too easy, not complicated enough. And that is why few ever find this truth.

I live my life now in full surrender to my Divine Parents. When I speak to them I speak as a child wanting to know everything, yet knowing so very little. I come to them as that three-year old desiring to know more about them and their world.

This is the secret I have been trying to impart in all my writings. And that is, unless we become once again that little child of whom we really are. Our Divine Parents cannot do anything for us, because we would believe we have already obtained far and above anything they could offer, because we think we are so wise and mature.

Just like when we are children we believe we are so much smarter than our parents and we simply stop listening to them. And then as we get older we begin to realize, wow, our parents were smarter than we had ever realized.

We would be like rebellious children who think they know it all when in fact, we are children who have barely reached first base in spiritual growth. You must go to your Father and Mother as a three-year old child would go to their human parents. And seek them and rely upon them as if your entire reality consists of what they can do for you, and not what you can do for yourself.

Do you understand the mystery, it has always been there? We must be converted, meaning changed, from what we appear to be or seem to be, and return to being what we really are, children! who have never advanced past a certain point; because our growth was retarded when we followed in the great rebellion.

When Lucifer was created, he was created with the full sum of wisdom, but Lucifer was also just a child. Lucifer never grew up, never matured. And took that free wisdom and became a bully. Lucifer became a wild unruly child who now believes they are some a god whom has become exceedingly jealous if anyone disagrees.

This same spirit is given unto the children of the world, and this is what separated Lucifer from the Father and Mother. And this is what continues to keep us separated until we begin to realize, we must go within, seek our Father and Mother, as children, and totally trust and rely on them for everything.

My friends, Lucifer and his other half Satan are nothing more than mindless rebellious kids that are somewhat akin to rich children who were given everything handed to them on a silver platter and never had to work for it. But now they believe they are these great and powerful rulers, but their minds, even with all the wisdom have never developed beyond that of a little child, but now they are unruly and disobedient.

Our world is the result of children ruling over children, playing devious games. Once you begin to realize this, you must return to the Father and Mother and admit who you are, what you are, and why you so need them to direct your life in everything.

I can't emphasize this enough, that nothing I have said is worth a hill of beans, until you realize and truly understand from the deepest of levels, who you really are and what you must now return to become.

Why would Jesus make these statements about becoming a little child? It would seem to mature adults to be rather ridiculous? Yet I ask why? Because we are just children, and to return home we must change back to who we really are.

All the knowledge and vast wisdom of this world is foolishness to our Father and Mother. Every bit of it is nonsense. The wisest of humans can't even hold a candle to the understanding and knowledge and wisdom of our Divine Parents.

It is like a child playing a simulated game, they may understand everything there is to know about the game. Some have even become wise in the game and all-knowing, but to the parents, it is meaningless, it is just a game that their kids are playing.

The great truth is very easy to understand and yet very difficult to implement in our realm. However, it is our only way. And that is we are children that never grew up, but we believe we are the most intelligent beings in the universe, when in truth, all we have done is become wise in our own eyes, and it is meaningless in the scheme of things dealing with eternal life, therefore we exist within eternal death or eternal illusion.

And unless we change the process we have been following since birth and death and a constant barrage of rebirths and deaths, we will never escape.

The answer is so simple, if we want help to escape we must call out to our Divine Family for aid and help in our time of need. We must listen, obey, follow, and do what they ask of us, so that we can return home.

Knowledge cannot set you free. Wisdom cannot save you. As a child, no matter what you figure out on your own, unless your parents comply, you have no power or authority over anything but your own illusion. You must follow your divine parents, which will guide and lead you across the veil back unto life eternal while escaping from the illusion.

Christ wasn't imploring us to become a three-year-old and wear diapers again and still nurse on their mother. He was not saying, become stupid and ignorant. He was not saying you must act like you are helpless and speak in baby talk and garble your words. He was saying to become the spirit of a child and follow your Father and Mother as a child, having to trust in them for everything, while holding their hands.

Then and only then will you share in the greatest blessing of all, something I have experienced my entire life when I am in this mind-set. You will know who your Father and Mother truly are, and you will trust in them beyond anyone or anything else ever again. They will be your guide, they will answer all of your questions.

This is the mystery unveiled of the Divine Secret Garden. And not a single human, angel or god could ever prove it wrong.
